The Royal Meteorological Society are pleased to announce the Student & Early Career Scientists Conference was held this year as a FREE virtual conference!

The Student and Early Career Scientists Annual conference provided an excellent opportunity for Masters, Undergraduate and PhD students, as well as early career scientists, working in fields related to meteorology to present their work in a friendly environment.

There was keynote speakers, poster sessions as well as sessions for oral presentations. Social breaks including a photographic competition. The conference provided you with the opportunity to get to know your fellow scientists chances for discussion on current issues and to network and share your opinions with other delegates.

The virtual conference was split between two days of two oral sessions and two poster sessions. More information regarding attending specific sessions was clarified once you have registered on our events page.
