

David Brookfield

David Brookfield is the society's new head of IT and Technical services. Before coming to RMetS David worked in London wearing many different hats. He last headed up a software project in the City of London.

Since coming to RMetS David has been following up on the integration of the Society's new membership database and Events tool into the website as well as making some technical changes to operations.

Source URL: <https://accsys.rmets.org/about-us/people/staff-society/david-brookfield>